Fishing in Mayo

Mayo is regarded as a key destination for angling enthusiasts around the world. The principal town for angling is Ballina and it is branded as the Salmon Capital of Ireland, reflecting the quality of angling available on its river Moy.

Lakes of Mayo

Lough Conn, Cullin and Mask are noted for their top quality wild brown trout fishing, particularly during mayfly season, and also produce salmon.

Carrowmore Lake, near Bangor Erris, also provides excellent salmon and sea trout fishing for the fly angler in tranquil surroundings. Other popular game fisheries include Lough Beltra and Burrishoole (near Newport).

Sea Angling

Mayo's main deep sea angling centres are located at Clew Bay just off the west coast, Bellmullet (Erris) and Killala located off the North Mayo Coast. Boats are available to hire, with excellent skippers. Shore angling can also be practised extensively and the area is also noted for its high-quality saltwater fly fishing too.
